

Areas To Consider For Development In Becoming More Effective:

- Developing an interest in theories and concepts and valuing its application.
- Sharing your feelings to the outside world and with others.
- Developing more personal relationships with others.
- You are great at starting projects - how about finishing them, in turn?
- Developing a larger social network and sharing more of yourself.
- Being aware of your need to make a quick decision and postponing it, just for while.
- Giving positive and personable feedback to others.
- Recognising that planning can be useful and exploring strategies that can help you in this.
- Asking for help and support when you need it.

Which of the above would you like to focus on first?

How will you know when you have developed in this area?

Who do you know that does this well?

Start small - what activities could you do to promote development in your chosen area?

Before You Consider Any Personal Development You May Like To Consider The Following:

Which parts of the ISTP personality description are particularly true for you?

- What are your strengths as an ISTP?
- Which parts of the ENFJ personality description do you find particularly unlike you?
- Have you sought any feedback from others?
- How important it is for you to develop some of the areas suggested?
- What specifically is your goal?
- What support do you need for this development?
- What challenges might you face on your development journey?

Function Order

I

Dominant Function
Introverted Thinking

S

Auxiliary Function
Extraverted Sensing

T

Tertiary Function
Intuition

P

Inferior Function
Extraverted Feeling